

Keith Brown, CEO Trailtech Inc.

Finalist for the Viterra Award for Business Leader of the Year

Keith Brown is CEO and founder of Trailtech Inc., a company committed to the continual development and research in trailer technology. Using the latest designs and available technology, Trailtech is able to produce safe products of the highest quality.

Brown has lead Trailtech through multiple achievements, including a successful immigrant nominee program, a series of Lean Manufacturing initiatives, and numerous product improvements, resulting in improved productivity and revenue growth.

Brown believes that one cannot extract value without putting something back into the local and provincial community.

He enjoys working with and mentoring leaders in business and in the broader community. He has served on several Boards and participated in community initiatives. Brown believes that success comes from delivering a good or service to a customer in a manner that differentiates you from the competitor and providing a product that excels, a philosophy he applies equally well to relationships with employees, his community, peers and associates.
